TREMENDOUS CONFLAGRATION.

A WHOLE BLOCK DESTROYED.

One of the Fiercest Fires ever known in Hamilton.

At about half-past one on Sunday morning, one of the worst fires that has ever occurred in this city broke out on the block on York street, near Bay street, behind Copp's Foundry. The bells rang out loudly, and the Fire Brigade and an immense concourse of citizens were quickly on the spot. It appears that the fire broke out in the cabinet shop on York street, between Bay and Caroline streets, occupied by Mr. Hill near the engine-room, and owned by Mr. Burns, lumber dealer. There being at the time a fair breeze blowing, the flames spread with fearful rapidity, and, notwithstanding the exertions of the firemen, were quickly communicated to the surrounding buildings. Added to this, two of the hose were found to be choked up with coal and stone, evidently a malicious act, and so a very inadequate force of water was able to be thrown on the burning building. The heat was intense, and the blaze terrific. Huge cinders were carried by the wind to long distances from the fire, and we have heard of some being found as far distant as the Hamilton and Lake Erie Railway track. James street was full of cinders, and it is a wonder that some of the buildings were not set on fire—we believe the roof of the St. Nicholas Hotel did catch fire. Luckily the wind dropped at an opportune moment, or else nothing would have saved Copps' Foundry and other adjacent buildings. The flames spread from the cabinet store of Herald's pianoforte factory and set on fire the large board which surmounted the building. This was soon communicated to the roof and burnt rapidly. The crowd was now immense, and was remarkable for the large attendance of the weaker sex. Just about this time a shout was raised and the huge board on the top of Herald's Factory fell down with a crash; luckily it struck against the wires and hung upon them for a moment before falling, thus enabling the crowd underneath to get out of the way, otherwise the result might have been fatal. Most of the pianos stored in the bottom flat were got out, but the upper stories were completely gutted, and the loss sustained is heavy. The next building, occupied by Mr. North as a tinsmith shop, was also thoroughly ravaged by the flames. The firemen obtained control of the element between 4 and 5 o'clock a. m., when there was but little more damage remaining to be done. The following is, as far as we can learn, a true account of the losses: The double stone building, owned by Messrs. Copp Bros., and occupied on the west side by Mr. Herald as a piano manufactory, and on the east side by Mr. North as a tin manufactory, was valued at about $5,000; insured in the Western for $2,000. To the east of North's store stood a large frame building, about 30 × 100 ft., owned by Copp Bros., and occupied by Messrs. Burns & Hill as a furniture manufactory, which was also completely destroyed. East of this was an old brick building, owned by Copp Bros., the front part of which was used as a paint shop, and the back rented by Mr. Davis as a dwelling house; on the east of this again was a frame shop and dwelling house, occupied by Mr. Fairbanks as a saw-filing and repairing shop. There was no insurance on these latter buildings, but Mr. Fairbanks is fully covered, he being insured for $1,000, and his estimate of his loss $500. Further to the east was the Agricultural Manufactory Department of Copp Bros., a frame building about 38 feet by 100 feet, full of implements partly made, and at the north end was a building used as a store-house for patterns, which was full, and east of this was the stove and enamelling department, with about 4,000 maslin kettles, about finished. There was an insurance of $2,300 on the buildings. The patterns, etc., were not insured. The large buildings and ware rooms of Copp Bros. luckily escaped without being materially damaged, though the roof was on fire several times. Mr. North is insured for $1,200 which will cover his loss, in what company we do not know as yet. The boiler in Burns & Hill's factory is, we believe, insured for $1,000 by Messrs. Duffield, of London, who had a chattel mortgage on it. During the fire a gentleman on the opposite side was very industrious with a Babcock Extinguisher protecting his dwelling, and at the same time sprinkling the assembled multitude. The whole loss may be estimated at about $20,000.

NEARLY A FATAL ACCIDENT.

The Wall of a Building Tumbles Down.

As the workmen who are employed on a building being erected by Mr. Noyes on King-street East (near Ferguson-avenue) were this morning hoisting up a wheel-barrow full of bricks to the upper storey, the tackling by means of which the barrow was being raised broke, and the barrow, with its contents, was suddenly dashed against the scaffolding, upon which several workmen were engaged in laying the bricks of the western gable, four feet only above the main building being erected. The Eastern gable of the building was entirely finished, and when the occurrence narrated above took place, two of the purloins, owing to the vibration, gave way, and the Eastern gable fell in, together with the two chimneys on that side, hurling the debris with tremendous force through the several storeys, and causing a perfect panic amongst the workmen, about twenty of whom were in the building at the time. As far as we can ascertain three workmen were injured, but none of them seriously. Their names are Benjamin Bradfield (supposed internally), George Nash (cut on the head), and Patrick Hanley (slightly bruised about the body). Mr. Thomas Austin, contractor, of Cathcart street, had a very narrow escape. When the scaffolding gave way he seized one of the purloins which remained stationery in the small portion of the gable which had withstood the shock, and hung there, with other two men, who in desperation had grasped his body when they found the scaffolding receding from their feet. Had they taken the advice of onlookers and jumped, they would have had a fall of fifty feet and into a cellar. However, Mr. Austin sensibly clung to the beam until Mr. Noyes procured a ladder and released him and his companions from the unpleasant and dangerous position.

The accident caused the greatest excitement in the locality, and those residing in the vicinity of the ill-fated building were considerably alarmed. When Mr. Coulter, who has a store adjoining, heard the crash, he rushed up stairs and bore his aged mother from her bedroom to the street below in less time than it takes to relate the circumstance. Fears were entertained that another portion of the wall would give way, but these we think were entirely groundless, as no exception whatever can be taken as to the workmanship, and the entire affair was undoubtedly purely an accident.

No blame can be attached to Mr. Isaiah Beer, the efficient contractor, or anybody else employed on the building.

Dr. Roseburagh attended the injured men, and it is hoped that they will be able to resume their duties in a few days.

European Correspondence.—Rev. Hugh Johnston, M.A., minister of the Centenary Church here, leaves Hamilton for Europe, via Quebec, per steamship Quebec, to-morrow. The rev. gentleman purposes to be absent about three months, and, after a short stay in England, Ireland and Scotland, will proceed through France, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and other places of historic interest on the European Continent. We are pleased to announce that arrangements have been made with Mr. Johnston to furnish the Times with a series of letters during his travels. It will be recollected that this gentleman accompanied Dr. Punshon on his trip to California, a narrative of which, in the form of letters addressed to the Globe, excited unwonted attention at the time. The rev. gentleman's graphic description of the Yosemite Valley, the Big Trees of California, and other objects of interest in that wonderland, is still fresh in the memory of our readers, and has formed the subject of several lectures delivered by him in this and neighboring cities. Mr. Johnston will, by actual evidence, be enabled to contrast the glories of the Old and New Worlds, and that he will do so eloquently and well the columns of our paper will amply testify. We wish him a safe and pleasant journey.

Important Notice to Cheese Shippers—Quick Despatch.—On Tuesday, 18th ultimo, at 8 p.m., a car of cheese (first new cheese of season) left Ingersoll for Liverpool, England, account of Mr. Casswell, by Merchants' Despatch Transportation Company and Inman Line, via New York Central and Hudson River Railroad from Suspension Bridge. This car arrived in New York on Thursday evening and delivered to steamer City of Richmond on Friday morning, and sailed Saturday, 22nd; steamer arrived at Liverpool on Monday morning, 31st, making fastest time on record for freight from Ingersoll to Liverpool, about twelve days. The cheese shipments having now commenced, shippers ought to note these facts, as quick despatch is the life of the trade. We understand this Company has made arrangements to supply ventilator cars, which run through without transhipment by cheese express trains from Suspension Bridge and Black Rock for New York every Tuesday and Wednesday mornings for shipment by steamer of following Saturday. All information as to rates, &c., will be supplied by Mr. John Barr, agent for Ontario. Office, 67 James street north.

Jewellery at Cost.—Attention is directed to Mr. Campbell's advertisement in another column. He can assure those in want of anything in the jewellery line that by giving him a call they will be fully satisfied. Mr. Campbell gives up possession of the business, carried on by him so successfully for five years, on the 15th of this month, he having sold out to a purchaser of the whole for 75c. on the dollar, which is a guarantee that he will be happy in selling at cost up to that date. Be sure and give him a call and partake of the genuine bargains he is offering.

Fire.—A rather curious circumstance happened in Saltfleet yesterday. A farmer named Hildreth was engaged in burning up stumps and brushwood in his field. A strong wind prevailing at the time, the sparks communicated to a waggon loaded with cordwood in the adjoining road, and before he could stay the flames the waggon, worth $60, with contents, was entirely destroyed. This shows how cautious farmers should be, in dry weather, when and where they apply the torch. It is very probable that if a house had been near it would have shared the fate of the waggon.

A HAMILTONIAN DROWNED.

Thomas McAllister falls off the Schooner "Starling" at Port Dalhousie

We learn from the St. Catharines Journal that on Sunday last a melancholy accident happened at Port Dalhousie, whereby a young man named Thomas McAllister belonging to this city, lost his life. While the schooner "Starling" was lying at the pier the man, who was engaged on the boat, took a seat on the railing of the vessel, where he fell asleep. During his slumbers he accidentally fell overboard and was drowned. He was seen to fall by two parties who were in a tug boat close by. They went to his assistance, to to pull him out when he should come to the surface of the water, but they could not find him. The man must have struck his head against some hard substance in falling. The body was recovered soon afterwards, but life was extinct. An inquest was held yesterday.

Killed by the Cars.—We learn that on Sunday morning a stranger walking along the Great Western Railway track near Jordan found the remains of a man who had been killed by being run over by the cars. The fact was reported to the station master at St. Catharines, and subsequently the corpse was identified as that of a laborer named Felix McKeever, who lived with his mother on the east side of the Jordan station. The body was lying between the 15 and 16 mile creek. It seems that deceased was working in town on Saturday, and after receiving his wages made some purchases and started for home by the track, which is the "nearest cut" from St. Catharines to his home. He must have drank a good deal, as his death is owing entirely to intoxication. He was last seen about nine o'clock under the influence of liquor. He is presumed to have been sitting on one of the rails when the No. 8 Express dashed along. One arm was cut off, (the right,) and beside being cut and injured in many other places and ways, his spine was broken, indicating that he had received a very violent blow. The engine driver was unconscious of the accident. When he reached the Falls here-marked that the cow-catcher of his engine had been sprinkled with sugar and blood (deceased had sugar and meat in his basket), but he never dreamt of the fatal accident, and was somewhat surprised to learn it from the station master yesterday morning. Coroner Comfort held an inquest at deceased's late residence yesterday, the jury returning a verdict in accordance with these facts. McKeever was a married man, although not living with his wife, and was about 35 years of age. He was an industrious and respectable man, but he had one failing—he drank excessively. The sad results of this man's folly should have a beneficial effect upon the drinking community.

The Dundas Town Clock.—We have received a communication from a resident of the valley city with respect to the town clock, stating that "it has four or five faces, and on looking at the north side the time indicated is half-past six; on the south, seven o'clock, and if it strikes it is half-past something." If the town authorities do not have the town clock wound up and set agoing in proper order, we promise our correspondent that our fighting editor will shortly proceed to Dundas and put a "mansard" on the mayor or suspend honest Stephen. This nuisance has been Wink-ed at long enough by the authorities and "so thinks Mrs. Johnson."

Court House Care Taker.—We learn that during the present session of the County Council, now sitting, that body will appoint a care-taker of the county buildings. We have been informed that Mr. J. W. James, for a long time a reporter of the Times and Spectator, is an applicant. From his age, experience and qualifications we deem him thoroughly competent, and hope that he will receive the appointment.

The Crops.—Owing to the long continued drought, the spring crops are in a very bad condition. At the beginning of the season there was a promise of an excellent harvest, but now (and we are writing now of Saltfleet) wheat, barley and oats are in a terribly bad state. The season as our readers know at the commencement, was a wet one; the hot weather came on suddenly and completely baked the ground in which the seed was sown. The grass too, is in a bad condition, and we hear reports that hay is likely to be at a very high price this season.

Insects on Plum Trees.—Parties who may have plum trees, will do well to examine them closely for traces of insects. A gentleman in the west found the blossoms on his trees nearly destroyed by a large brown bug. Putting a white cloth under the tree, a process of vigorous shaking resulted in about three hundred bugs falling into the cloth. Those who have trees will do well to try this.

Mr. G. H. Cline, of the Willow Bank Diary, has purchased from Mr. Jardine a very handsome Ayrshire bull, which has taken a number of prizes, for which he paid a fancy price.

Aaron Sayman has just received a large quantity of silk of all colors and shades, also a stock of alpaca, for the repairing of umbrellas and parasols. w19-5i*

Oxford and Burford.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

A trip through these townships has shown that the fall wheat here is a great failure, and that half the usual yield will not be realized next harvest. The ground is not half covered, the wheat having been frozen out by the hard winter. Clover, also, is not a success, but timothy meadows look tolerably well, and spring grain is suffering from want of rain.

A SPUR IN THE HEAD.

The old proverb has it that a spur in the head worth two in the heel, but a similar experience to that of the writer would render this assertion problematical. In hoisting an old hen from her nest beneath the roost, Chanticlere, affected by her loud complaints, and inspired by true gallantry, descended like an eagle on his prey, upon the occiput of the intruder, driving his spurs through a felt hat and the scalp of his antagonist, much to the discomfort and vexation of the latter, who, in admiration, however, of the gallant act, reversed a hasty decision to convert him into pot-pie, into a flattering compliment to his esprit du corps, though without any desire for a repeated exhibition of it on his own cranium.

A NOVEL COURTSHIP.

Some acquaintances of your correspondent were in the habit of pleasantly relating that their courtship owed its origin to the following ludicrous circumstance: Being entire strangers before, in coming out of church her shawl became entangled in his button almost inseparably, which brought them to the conclusion that the fates had destined them to a closer union, and, acquiescing, they invoked the blessing of Hymen, and became one flesh.

WHAT HANGING IS LIKE.

The writer from what he has seen would counsel any disposed to try voluntary hanging to make a thorough job of it, for anything short of it is worse in its agonies than a dozen deaths. The following case will fully warrant this assertion. The wretched man being cut down before fatal strangulation had taken place, for two hours or so shrieked for breath as if choking to death, the most shocking spectacle that could be witnessed or thought of. His wild and suffering aspect, his frantic ravings, combined with the thoughts of his being a suicide, along with the painful struggles of resuscitation, formed a scene which must be seen to be fully appreciated.

NOW AND THEN.

"Are the young ladies of the present day fit for wives?" asked a lecturer of his audience. "They are fit for husbands," responded a female voice; "but the trouble is that you men are not fit for wives." (Applause.)

Result of the Election Petition Trials.

HOW THE COMBATANTS STAND.

According to the record, eighteen Reformers were unseated. Had they remained so, the results would have been undoubtedly weakening to the Liberal party. But we find that out of the eighteen thus unseated, the following have been re-elected or chosen in the Reform interest in place of the unseated ones:

McGregor, Essex.
Norris, Lincoln.
Shibley, Addington.
Biggar, East Northumberland.
Ker, West Northumberland.
McDougall, Renfrew.
Macdonald, Cornwall.
Cook, Simcoe.
Macdonald, Centre Toronto.
Higinbotham, North Wellington.
Irving, Hamilton.
Wood, Hamilton.

And one seat has been won from the Conservatives:

Murray, North Renfrew.

Of the remaining ones Norfolk is lost to the Liberals, but is again in the Election Court. London has gone Conservative; Huron has returned an independent member; East Toronto has gone Conservative; North Victoria is decided to have been Conservative from the first, and North York has yet to be decided. On the other hand the Conservatives have retained Kingston, Niagara, Middlesex and Leeds; have lost Renfrew, and Monck is yet to be decided. The total result of the elections that have been held for the Dominion Commons as the result of the election trials is, that the Liberals have lost three constituencies and gained one—leaving a net profit to the Conservatives of two, or four votes on a division. As the Liberal majority in the House ranges somewhere between fifty and a hundred, there can hardly be sufficient ground for a panic in the fact that the Opposition ranks number two more, and the Government side two less than they did a year ago.

In the local election cases the results are that the following seats have been vacated:

REFORM.	OPPOSITION.
Halton,	Wentworth, N.
Monck,	Russell.
Welland,
Ontario, N.

To the Opposition losses should also be added South Ontario, as Judge Wilson has practically decided that the decision first given in that case ought to be reversed. That makes in all four Reform and three Opposition members gone, the new elections in all those cases being yet to be held.

The results of the isolated Dominion elections held and the character of the constituencies vacated justify us in expecting not only that of the seven new members at least the only proportions will be preserved, but that there will be a change for the better. There are good reasons for hoping that both North Wentworth and South Ontario will reverse their late decision and return men of the same political faith as they were represented by the last Legislature.—Liberal.

The Niagara Camp.

Niagara, June 6th.—Instruction of the various corps in drill was progressing actively yesterday, their being the daily parades. The period of annual drill being now limited to twelve days, the officers commanding the camp, no doubt, thought the granting of a half-holiday would too seriously interfere with the accomplishment of the object for which the troops are assembled, and so hard work had to be stuck to. The infantry regiments were all out on the common, several of them being exercised in battalion movements, which were accomplished in a manner that shows how well up the companies officers must be in their duty. The cavalry during the afternoon were formed in two squadrons and practised marching past before Lieut.-Col. Durie, D.A.G., who was attended by Major Moore, of the Brigade staff. The artillery were also out for a while and performed various field manœuvres.

There was a large and brilliant party at the Queen's Royal Hotel, last night in honor of the Brigade in camp. The hotel, now elegantly fitted up, was thrown open to the guests, who enjoyed an evening of gaiety. Among the ladies present were Mrs. W. A. Thomson and daughters, Queenston; Mrs. Wilson, Miss Eccles and Miss Lawder, St. Catharines; Mrs. H. Arthurs and the Misses Symons, Toronto; Misses Fellows and Messrs. Crittenden, Buffalo; the Misses Watts, Miss Kerby, Mrs. P. Servos and daughters, Mrs. Killaly, and the Misses Allison, Niagara. There were also present: Col. Durie, Lieut.-Col. Villiers, Brigade-Major, and a number of officers on the staff as guests. Also Major-General DeBussy, U. S. A.; Capt. Hobbs, U. S. A.; Lieut. Tiernon, U. S. A.; and Dr. Woodruff, U. S. A. The guests spent an evening of high enjoyment, and before leaving acknowledged the hospitality they had received. The band of the 13th Battalion furnished the music for the dance.

The entire force in camp, excepting the men on duty, attended church parade at half-past seven this morning on the Brigade parade ground, to which they marched headed by their respective bands. The service, which was a short one, was conducted by the Rev. Dr. McMurray, Rector of Niagara. A few of the band of the 13th Battalion furnished instrumental music, the remainder of the bandsmen officiating very creditably as choir. The rest of the day was spent by the men as they pleased, and a good deal of visiting took place among the various corps.

It may be remarked that the choir of St. Mark's Church was strengthened at both morning and evening service by the accession of several members of the Queen's Own.

The weather continues fine, but a heavy fall of rain would be very acceptable, as the ground is very dry and consequently dusty. The oak trees which fringe the commons are even yet not in full leaf, and vegetation seems almost at a standstill.

The 20th Battalion and two companies of the 13th finished their rifle practice yesterday. The weather was calm and the shooting very good.

Ensign Kerr of B company, a corporal and eight privates of the University company of the Queen's Own, have obtained leave of absence to enable them to visit Toronto on Tuesday for the purpose of attending Convocation, in order that the scholarship's prizes and medals which they have gained in the recent examinations may be conferred upon them. Two of these gentlemen will also receive degrees.

The Minister of Militia will arrive to-morrow to visit the camp, and has already engaged a suite of apartments at the Queen's Royal, which would seem to indicate that he would remain till after the Inspection of all the troops by Major-General Smith. The artillery will be inspected by Lieut.-Colonel Irwin of the Kingston School of Gunnery about the middle of the week.

The first brigade field day will be held to-morrow morning.—Mail's report.

FIELD DAY—VISIT OF THE MINISTER OF MILITIA.

Niagara, June 7.—This has been quite a red letter day in the experience of the volunteers here. The usual drill took place at 6.30 a. m., but the second parade was ordered three-quarters of an hour earlier than usual, namely at 9.45, when the whole brigade marched out to the common and formed under the superintendence of Col. Villiers, Brigade Major, in a line of contiguous quarter columns, with the cavalry and artillery on the right. Shortly afterwards the various corps deployed into line. The Hon. Mr. Vail, Minister of Militia, drove upon the ground in an open carriage, attended by an escort from the 2nd Regiment of cavalry, and accompanied by Lieut.-Col. Durie, D. A. G., and Col. Denison, Superintendent of Drill, and other officers. He then drove slowly down the front of the line and up the rear, the bands of the various battalions playing as he passed them. The troops then marched passed at a walk, the infantry in column. The next movement was a march past of the cavalry and artillery at the trot, and of the infantry in quarter column. The music was furnished by the united bands brigaded for the occasion. After this the force reformed line of quarter columns, again deployed into line, advanced in line, and then retired by fours from the right of companies. The brigade was then formed into three sides of a hollow square, and the Minister of Militia drove into the centre. He made a speech expressive of the satisfaction his visit had afforded him, promising that he would oppose to his uttermost any proposed alienation of the ordnance property at Niagara, so suitable for military purposes, and that the Government would be solicitous for the interests of the volunteers of the Dominion. The troops, led by Colonel Denison, gave three cheers for the Queen, and then returned to Camp. Having been under arms for four hours, the usual afternoon parade was in many corps considerately dispensed with. This, the first field day, may be considered a great success, and Colonel Durie expressed his complete satisfaction with the behavior of the men. The heavy rain of the previous night had laid the dust and freshened vegetation, but the sun shone bright and hot. A few ladies and other visitors occupied the ramports of the old fortifications, and there were a good many carriages on the grounds. The general opinion expressed is that the various corps exhibited a wonderful degree of proficiency considering the short time they have been under training, not a full week yet.

In the course of the afternoon the Minister of Militia held a levee at the Queen's Royal Hotel, at which a great many of the officers in camp attended.

The Brigade Staff Sergeants give a dinner to their friends in camp to-morrow evening.

It is believed there will be brigade drill every day this week until the inspection by the Major-General takes place.

Excellent order prevails in camp and in the town; and discipline, which is rigidly enforced, is every where cheerfully submitted to.

The inspection by the Major-General will probably take place on Wednesday.—Mail's Telegram.

A party of half-a-dozen from Port Stanley and London took a trip to Saugeen last week, and in two days succeeded in catching 1700 speckled trout. The sport was much enjoyed, but owing to the warm weather they were unable to bring home many with them.

Fire was lately discovered in a berth on a steamboat in England which had originated in the heat of the sun—one of the glass "deadlights" concentrating the rays directly on the spot and acting as a burning glass. How many vessels at sea may have been fired in that way.

Mrs. Rousby sailed for Europe on Saturday on the steamer Germanic, of the White Star Line. She will return in August to rehearse a new play from the pen of Dion Boucicault, written expressly for her. It will be produced at Booth's Theatre somewhere in October or November.

It is reported that the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne will visit Canada and the United States this summer. This Princess has an ambition to be an artist, and spends several hours every day in conscientious work in the South Kensington Art School.

A member of a Paris club expressed his doubts as to the veracity of the account given of the Oxford and Cambridge boat race, declaring that it was impossible to attain that boating speed, whereupon Baron Arthur Rothschild agreed to find a crew who would achieve the same feat as to distance and time on the Seine. The match is to come off on the Sunday following the Grand Prix de Paris.

The N. Y. Tribune says the riflemen who left New York for Dublin on Saturday will be followed across the water by the good wishes of all our people. They go to display American skill in a manly art, and there is little danger that we shall be ashamed of their efforts. The contest is between Irish and American Riflemen, and it will take place at Dollymount, near Dublin.

Mr. Wenjukow has laid before the Geographical Society of St. Petersburg a project for making the Asiatic steppes arable. He proposes to turn the waters of the Don into the Volga. In the country of the Don Cossacks these rivers are only fifty miles apart. He expects that the great increase of water thus thrown into the Caspian will correspondingly increase evaporation and rain.

M. Lebeau, a veterinary surgeon of Paris, claims to have discovered a cure for hydrophobia, and submits the cure to an experiment, as follows: On the 23rd of May he inoculated with hykrophobia virus sixteen dogs in a hospital. The Globe of this morning says: Is there anything too false or absurd for a Conservative journal to publish? For several days the Mail has been declaring that Mr. Gordon Brown is an applicant for the Hamilton Shrievalty, and that a keen contest is going on between him and the Hon. Archibald McKellar for the post! Mr. Gordon Brown has never asked for any public office, and there is no place in the gift of either Government that he would accept.

Mr. Wm. McDougall never opens his mouth but he puts his foot in it. At Aurora the other day he gave great offence by introducing politics into his speech at the Grangers' pic-nic, and making a very offensive allusion to the head of the Dominion Government. The Grangers have been very careful hitherto to keep their movement clear of party politics altogether, and the intrusion of such topics would prove highly damaging if it were permitted. The allusion above referred to was received with evident tokens of disapprobation and subsequent speakers were pretty plain in their criticisms upon the indiscreet "wanderer."

The attendance at the political meeting held at Lotbiniere on the 6th inst., was very large, Quebec contributing about 800 persons. Hon. Mr. De Boucherville led, followed by Mr. Joly. Mr. Amyott, the Government candidate for Lotbiniere in the approaching elections, then spoke, being replied to by Mr. Laurier, who in turn was followed by Messrs. Chapleau, Frechette, Masson, and Thibault. The principal questions discussed were the action of the Government in the matter of the Tanneries affair, assistance to railways, and repatriation. The proceedings, which lasted for eight hours, were throughout conducted with the utmost fairness and good order.

As a gentleman, fishing near Penzance, England, gaffed a large fish, he was seized with a numbness in his arms, accompanied with an indescribable and painful sensation, which was really an electric shock. His servant man, who accompanied him, suffered in the same manner, he having assisted in securing the torpedo. The electrical apparatus in this fish was found, on examination, to consist of small membranous tubes, which occupy the space between the head, the pectoral fins and the branchiæ. They are disposed like a honeycomb and divided by horizontal partitions into small cells, which are filled with a mucous substance, the whole arranged like a galvanic pile.

The Coming (?) Ontario Ministry.

(From Grip.)

Scene; King street. Enter Grip. To him Mr. M. C. Cameron, smiling joyously.

Grip (loq.) Good morning, Matthew. Let me congratulate you, if it is a little late, on the triumph return of a good Conservative for South Simcoe.

Mr. M. C. C.—(Hesitatingly)—Ah, th-a-n-ks—th-a-n-ks.

Grip—Now, between you and Mac. I look for an early defeat of that corrupt administration of Mowat's. The country has its eyes on you. It expects your accession to the benches.

Mr. M. C. C.—(Impassionately)—We'll attain them, too, by the Jingo—we shall, by the Living Jingo!!

Grip—Come, no quoting from Toole in my presence. But I hope you may, old fellow. By the way, have you given the subject of a Cabinet any thought, in anticipation of being called upon to go to the wheel?

Mr. M. C. C.—You're shouting, I have! You bet I've got the thing all cut and dried. (Patting his vest-pocket significantly.)

Grip—I am shocked to hear you speak in such a slangy manner. I am afraid you are already beginning to suffer from "evil association." But let us have the names, old boy.

Mr. M. C. C.—(Confidentially) Come in here.

(They enter a private parlor of the Rossin House. Mr. C. locks the door, closes the shutters, puts down the window blinds, peers carefully under the sofa, and finally seats himself behind an arm chair in a dark corner. Grip perches on the table)

Grip—Come, hurry up,—I'm sincerely anxious to learn what you're "going to do about."

Mr. M. C. C.—Here they are. (Producing a piece of sheep-skin from his vest pocket.)

Grip—(Facetiously)—Sheepskin? Ah, quite appropriate. Proceed.

Mr. M. C. C.—(Reluctantly, and with a slight blush, reads.)—"Attorney-General—Mr. M. C. Cameron."

Grip—Very good, so far; he's the best and purest man in your Party.

Mr. M. C. C.—I think so, sir. (Reads.) "Provincial Secretary—Hon. Wm. Macdougall."

Grip.—Good again. Immense improvement on Mackellar, who is so shockingly inconsistent and artful. By-the-bye, Willie held that office before, didn't he, when he was a Grit? Now, when he goes in, I hope we'll have no canoe couch extravagance, although I think the Province would pardon his purchasing a coat-of-many-colours and a stuffed chameleon, as emblematic decorations for the wall. But proceed.

Mr. M. C. C. (Reads) "Premier—Mr. M. C. Cameron and Mr. Wm. Macdougall."

Grip—Better still! I see you don't propose to sacrifice your professional practice, and Willie can run the House while you're in court. Very sensible. You understand each other, I believe. He'll bring in the Radical measures while you preserve the old ones. A sort of marriage compact, with two worse halves. Go on.

Mr. M. C. C. (clears his throat) "Treasurer"—(An awkward pause—Grip rings for the waiter and orders ice-water for Mr. C. Mr. C. moistens his lips and resumes)—"Treasurer—(ahem!)—Mr. A. W. Lauder." (Mr. C. looks furtively towards the table and observes Grip flopping around in a paroxysm of mingled mirth and distress.)

Grip—(Recovering his composure.) Pray proceed!!

Mr. M. C. C. (Reads) "Commissioner of Agriculture and Public Works—Mr. Chas. Rykert (?)." (Explains.) You see, I put his name down with a note of interrogation in brackets after it.

Grip. Very thoughtful of you. Shows your capacity for the Premiership. Put another note before it, and one above and below.

Mr. M. C. C.—Well, of course, if it comes to that, Mr. Macdougall can easily take that Department too.

Grip—Of course, capitally! you'll find him an excellent harrower before long. Talk about Mackellar's "fall ploughing." Why, old Archie never could turn over his sods or hoe his own row as Mac has done. By all means, let him go to grass! Go on.

Mr. M. C. C.—"Commissioner of Crown Lands—Mr. Blank—"

Grip (interrupting) Excellent, my dear Sir! that's the best of the lot. If the others were all as competent as "Blank" they would have a clearer record! If——

Mr. M. C. C.—(Interrupting) You misunderstand me, I'm afraid—I merely put Mr. "Blank" to indicate that that space is waiting to be filled up!

Grip—Wherein it resembles my crop at this moment, for I havn't had my dinner yet! Bye-bye, and lots of luck to you!

(Exit through an open window.)

Young Coville was in the hat-store with a companion last evening. "What kind of a hat do you want, young man,—soft or stiff?" inquired the proprietor. "Soft," said young Coville. "Why don't you git a stiff 'un, Bill?" whispered his surprised friend. "A stiff 'un!" ejaculated Young Coville, staring contemptuously at his companion. "An' what kind of a chance do you suppose I'd have for getting out of the house with a stiff hat under my jacket without ma seeing it an' making me come back?" His friend was silent.—Danbury News.

THE HAMILTON MARKETS.

Saturday, June 5.

This morning the James street produce market was very well supplied with products of every description, and the attendance of housekeepers was large, at one time in the early morning it being almost impossible for one to crush through the crowd on the Square. Beef was plentiful, and we note a decline in price, fore quarters selling at 6c. to 7c., and hind quarters at 9c. to 10c. per lb. Veal brought 5c. to 7c., and some particularly well fed commanded 8c. per lb. There was a fine lot of mutton offering from farmers' waggons at 7c. to 10c. per lb. Lamb, by the quarter, sold at 75c. to $1.25. The vegetable market was also well supplied. The ruling price for good fresh butter was 22c., but in some instances a little higher price was paid. Eggs are getting scarce, at 15c. per dozen. Apples were scarce at $1 to $1.40 per bag, and potatoes were in excellent supply at $1 to $1.25, according to quality. There was not much poultry on the market, and what there was had ready buyers at prices quoted in the corrected list published below. The fish dealers seemed to be doing a lively business. The chief kinds offered were halibut, salmon and whitefish, and fresh herrings in abundance. The quotations are also given underneath.

Wool is commencing to come in, but slowly as yet, the farmers seemingly holding back for higher prices. Buyers are very numerous, and willingly pay 32c. to 33c. per lb.

The hay, straw and wood markets are fairly supplied, and prices are firm, as per quoted list.

Grain is coming in in small quantities, and we have no changes to make in the flour market until next week.

Times Office, June 8.

There was a fair attendance at the market this morning, and the supply was good. The prices in grain were slightly changed. There was no barley offering for sale, nor was there any clover, timothy, flax or alsike in the market. The Meat Market remains unchanged, and also—with the exception of halibut, which is one cent a pound dearer—the same may be said of the Fish Market. There were a few speckled trout selling at 50c. a dish. Eggs were from 12½c. to 15c. a dozen. Apples were ranging from $1 to $1.50 per bag. Vegetables seemed slightly dearer. The Hide Market was dull. Wool had increased in price, and ranged as high as 37½c. per pound. The following is a correct table of the latest prices:

SPRING IMPORTATIONS.

The Alert and the Discovery, the two ships of the English Polar expedition, sailed Saturday. This is, by all odds, the most thoroughly equipped expedition that has ever penetrated the Artic Sea, and it will also have the benefit of the experience of the many Arctic voyages that have been made by American, Swedish, German, and Austrian expeditions during the last twenty-five years. Knowing, as we do, by the voyage of the Polaris, that a vessel can penetrate Smith's Sound to at least the parallel of 80 degrees, we have a right to expect that the Alert and the Discovery, either of which vessel is far superior in steam-power to Hall's wretched little steamer, can reach a much higher latitude by the same route. That this will be done, and that the Pole will be reached by sledging parties starting from the point at which the progress of the ships is finally arrested, we have good reason to hope; and certainly the brave men of the English expedition will have the best wishes of the whole civilized world for their success.

An Englishman has just accomplished the ascent of Mount Blanc at a time of the year when no tourist had ever ventured on the attempt. Mr. Kennedy, member of the English Alpine Club, set out from Chamonix on May 15, accompanied by two guides, and reached Grands-Mulets at four in the afternoon. The following day the party started at three in the morning for the summit, and after contending with the difficulties of the snow giving way under their feet, and of a burning sun, they arrived at the Grand Plateau. From that point the surface was firmer, so that they were enabled to attain the highest point toward noon; and there the travellers planted an alpenstock and drank a bottle of champagne "in honor of the tourist world, past, present, and to come." Owing to the intense heat the descent was difficult, but it was safely effected at eight in the evening.

The Bishop of Niagara.—On Thursday the Venerable Bishop of Niagara was in St. Catharines on business connected with his diocese, and also meeting with many of his old friends. The Bishop seems to be very energetic in the discharge of his official duties. Although by all odds the wealthiest Bishop in America, he does not sink the clergyman in the rich man, but is devoted to his profession as the humblest curate. It is the ardent desire of many Episcopalians to have an elegant church edifice erected somewhere on this side of the canal not far from the Stephenson House and Springbank, or perhaps on Ontario street, and it is to be hoped that the Bishop will interest himself in the project.—News.

It is stated in Les Mondes that one of the wealthiest English velvet manufacturers, Mr. Listar, worked his way to success by years of patient labor in search of a way to utilize silk rags. He began by buying up all such waste at less than a cent a pound, and up to the year 1864 he had expended the immense sum of over one million three hundred thousand dollars in fruitless efforts to find a process. Nothing daunted, however, he continued his experiments, and within the past ten years has discovered a method of converting such refuse into velvet of the finest quality. He now carries on this industry in England, in an establishment which employs some four thousand workmen, and hundreds of travellers are also employed, whose sole business is to buy the silk waste, and this they do in all parts of the globe. The factory is said to have cost nearly three million dollars.

An eminent Divine says, "I have been using the Peruvian Syrup. It gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, elasticity of muscle." Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston, will send, free, a pamphlet of 32 pages, containing a full account of this remarkable medicine, to any one sending him their address.

Electricity! Thomas' Excelsior Eclectric Oil!—Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.—Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old standing cough. It positively cures catarrh, asthma and croup. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the bock, and the same quantity lame back of eight years' standing. The following are extracts from a few of the many letters that have been received from different parts of Canada, which, we think, should be sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical: J. Collard, of Sparta, Ont., writes, "Send me 6 dozen Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, have sold all I had from you and want more now; its cures was truly wonderful." Wm. Maguire, jo Franklin, writes, "I have sold all the agent left, it acts like a charm—it was slow at first, but takes splendidly now." H. Cole, of Iona, writes, "please forward 6 dozen Thomas' Electric Oil, I am nearly out, nothing equals it. It is highly recommended by those who have used it." J. Bedford, Thamesville, writes—"Send at once a further supply of Eclectric Oil, I have only one bottle left. I never saw anything sell so well and give such general satisfaction." J. Thompson, Woodward, writes—"Send me some more Eclectric Oil. I have sold entirely out. Nothing takes like it." Miller & Reed, Ulverton, P. Q., write—"The Eclectric Oil is getting a great reputation here, and is daily called for. Send us a further supply without delay." Lemoyne, Gibb & Co., Buckingham, P. Q., write—"Send us one gross Eclectric Oil. We find it to take well. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price, 25 cents.
