SPLENDID GARDEN PARTY.

Last evening a delightful garden party was held at Mrs. Tilden's beautiful grounds on Main street east, in behalf of the Ladies' Aid of Emerald Street Methodist Church. The attendance was large. A fine programme of music was rendered by an efficient orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. J. S. Hampson. A goodly sum was realized.

Remember the great shoe sale now going on at Kingsley's. Hundreds are wearing a pair of those sample shoes. Hundreds of pairs left in sizes 3 1-2 and 4, selling at wholesale cost.

THE DEATH RATTLE.

The P. P. A. Fragments Likely Soon to be Gathered to the Father of Evil.

The P. P. A's, or Amoreans held an experience meeting at the north end rendezvous last night, the sad-looking couples and trios discussing the result of Tuesday's election in grumbling undertones as they shuffled down East avenue toward their Council chamber. The meeting was pretty well attended and there was much mutual recrimination and many accusations of unfaithfulness. Each of the members seemed to view the others with suspicion and complaints were made that there was not enough secrecy observed and that some of the boycotters were themselves suffering because of it becoming known that they were in the ring. One barber asserted that he had lost a great deal of custom and had bet some hard earned money and lost it. Some of the more rattle-pated talked big about what could be done if a protest were entered, while others said they had paid their last dollar into the concern. There was a strong section of the meeting inclined to be rebellious and resent being used longer as cat's paws for the place-hunters who run it. Altogether the meeting was not of the most harmonious character and argued the rapid decadence of the most abominable fungoid excrescence that has ever threatened the Canadian social structure.

MUST HAVE THEM REMOVED.

Scavenger Wagons That Are a Nuisance in the East End.

At the Police Court this morning Robt. Weir, a scavenger, was charged by Richard Kidby, No. 48 Shaw street, with violating the Health Act in allowing scavenger and night soil wagons to remain over night on his premises, to the annoyance of neighbors. After hearing the evidence the Magistrate reserved judgment until Monday at the same time giving Weir friendly warning to remove the wagons to some isolated place,

William Miller, aged 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a knife from John Harvey, and was remanded until to-morrow for sentence. Chief McKinnon desires time to look up Miller's record.

John Trainer, arrested by P. C. Timson for drunkenness, was allowed to go.

XIII. BATT. BAND CONCERT.

The Usual Large Audience at the Drill Hall.

The popularity of the 13th Battalion Band concerts must certainly be on the increase. The Drill Hall was hardly large enough to contain the crowd last evening. The programme was an excellent one and all the band members received a cordial reception. Encores were numerous and the band was very gracious in the matter of responses. The Berlioz overture, the Attila selection, and Mr. Geo. Robinson's arrangement of "Nearer, My God, to Thee" were special favorites with the audience. Mr. Herbert Wilson was in splendid voice and sang "De Koven's Nita Gitana" in a way that elicited a hearty encore. Mr. Geo. Fox played both his programme numbers with unusual brilliance and was recalled twice. Mr. C. L. M. Harris played Mr. Wilson's accompaniments.

LANTERN SLIDE EXCHANGE.

The regular monthly meeting of the Camera section was held last evening, President J. R. Moodie in the chair. The order of business was suspended in order to introduce Secretary A. M. Lake, of the Toronto Camera Club, who said he thought it advisable to extend the interest and usefulness of the Canadian clubs by co-operating with the various photographic societies and forming a Canadian lantern slide exchange. A hearty vote of thanks was given him for valuable information. In all probability, if satisfactory arrangements can be made with the customs, Toronto and Hamilton clubs will join the American exchange next season. The reports of three outings were presented, and the secretary's anecdotes of the wildcat and the life preserver were thoroughly original. Messrs. McKenzie and Lottridge were elected members of the club.

A BIGAMIST EXPOSED.

The Northwest Mounted Police Commissioner at Edmonton communicated with the Dundas authorities in reference to the antecedents of Robt. Vance, a former resident of Waterdown, who is held there on a charge of bigamy. The communication states that Vance married another woman in the Northwest, but is supposed to have a wife living in this country. The Dundas authorities investigated the case, and found that Robert Vance was married to a Miss Eliza Clark at St. James' Church, Dundas, on October 4, 1871, and that Mrs. Vance is living in Waterdown and has a family of grown up sons and daughters.

A NEWSPAPER INVASION.

An army of newspaper men passed through Hamilton this morning. It was made up of members of the National Editorial Association from Chicago and points west, bound for Asbury Park, New Jersey, to attend the national convention. The party numbered about 400 men and about half as many ladies, and the train on which they travelled was made up of twelve Pullman coaches besides the necessary baggage cars. Many of the travellers got acquainted with quite a lot of citizens and were treated handsomely here. They arrive at Asbury Park on Sunday, spending part of the two days at Niagara Falls and in the Credit Valley. They were not inconvenienced by the Pullman strike.

The desire to be well dressed is laudable. All well-dressed women add to the sum of refinement and social grace of the community. A lady is well or ill dressed in proportion as the material of which her costume is composed is perfect or imperfect in quality. The best basis for a beautiful costume is found in Priestley's famous dress fabrics, because the material is so flexible, soft and rich, while having every quality of durability that, in the hands of the skilled modiste, that perfection of contour, so dear to every woman's heart, is communicated to it in a most conspicuous degree. Ladies should ask for Priestley's black dress goods.

HOLIDAY HOUSE OPENED.

An Interesting Ceremony at the Beach Yesterday Afternoon.

"Holiday House" at the Beach will be ready to receive boarders on Monday next. The house was formally opened by Bishop Hamilton yesterday afternoon in the presence of about 40 ladies interested in the work of the Girls' Friendly Society. It is situated less than ten minutes' walk southerly from the Elsinore Depot and is a neat, plain frame structure facing the lake. A verandah runs along the whole front and is to be continued on one side. It is a typical Beach building, light, airy and cool. On the ground floor is a large living room, with four neat bed rooms off it, and a convenient kitchen. The upstairs is one large sleeping room furnished with fifteen single cots, arranged around three sides and separated from the main room by curtains. All the conveniences necessary for a well-equipped ladies' summer holiday resort are provided. On the bay side, in the midst of a lovely grove, is the boat and bathing house.

The opening ceremonies yesterday were very interesting. Bishop Hamilton was assisted by Rev. Thomas Geoghegan. During the service the Bishop made a few appropriate remarks.

After the service refreshments were partaken of.

Among those to whom the ladies were indebted for assistance in various ways are Messrs. Geo. S. Papps, Stanley Mills & Co., A. McKeown, Thomas Burrows, McCallum & Hall, Adam Clark, T. W. Mills, A. Zimmerman, Dowswell Bros., Bowman & Moore, Messrs. Husband, Stilwell, Brown, H. Gayfer, Davis and Mesdames Hamilton, Labatt, Clark, Burgess, Bruce, Patterson, Bearman, Noble, McInnes, Lucas, Slater, Mewburn, MacKelcan, Mrs. Doolittle, Mrs. Wylie and others.

Mr. Mercer built the house, and the ladies especially thank him for material assistance.

Holiday House will accommodate 24 boarders, and a good many applications have already been received. Miss Swanzy will be in charge, having come from the Old Country for the purpose. Information can be obtained by writing to her at the Beach.

Mrs. Hamilton is President of the Girls' Friendly Society and Miss Halson Secretary-Treasurer. Rev. T. Geoghegan and Messrs. Dr. Ridley and R. H. Labatt are Trustees.

THOSE SUNDAY CARS.

To the Hamilton Street Railway Company and all concerned,—We, the members and adherents of Immanuel Congregational Church, corner Locke and Hunter streets, in church meeting assembled this 27th day of June, 1894, do enter our protest against the running of the Hamilton Street Railway Company's cars, on Sabbath, during hours of service, 11 a. m. to 12.50, and from 2.30 to 4, and from 7 till 8.30 p.m. We consider this action of the Street Railway Company as very detrimental to our interests as a church, hurtful to our spiritual advancement and in direct and flagrant violation of the word of God, and would urge upon the said company the common justice of causing these cars to cease from running during the above hours on the Lord's Day.

Signed on behalf of the church and congregation this 27th day of June, 1894, W. H. Watson, Pastor; H. J. Healey, Deacon; Alex. L. Hay, Secretary.

ERSKINE'S PROTEST.

To the Manager and Board of Directors of the Hamilton Street Railway Company: Gentlemen,—At a large and representative meeting of the congregation of Erskine Church, held last evening, 27th inst., the following resolution was carried by a unanimous standing vote: This meeting deeply regrets that the city street railway company has seen fit to start running its cars on Sunday: that we were all deeply pained to hear the whirring wheels and clanging bells robbing the day of the quiet so essential to rest as well as to worship. That we do most earnestly protest against this unwelcome innovation and against the plea that the church people want it, believing, as we do, that an overwhelming majority of church goers were deeply grieved with the running of the cars last Sunday, and that we earnestly urge the company, in the interest of worship, of morality, and of their employees, to discontinue the cars at once, assured as we are, that the running of such cars is a most serious nuisance to the social, moral and religious healthfulness of our city life.

Signed on behalf of the congregation, James Gill, M. Turnbull, C. L. Frazer, J. R. Moodie, Robert Whyte.

WELCOMED THEIR NEW PASTOR.

The school room of Gore Street Methodist Church was crowded last evening on the occasion of the reception tendered Rev. J. Van Wyck by the Ladies' Aid Society and the Epworth League. Mr. W. H. Binkley, president of the league, had charge of the programme, which included songs by Miss Bertha Harris, violin solos by Mr. William Knaggs, recitations by Miss Ledger Wood, and a harmonica duet by Messrs. W. Hazel and T. Horning. Brief addresses were delivered by Rev. Isaac Tovell, the departing pastor, and Rev. J. Van Wyck, after which ice cream and cake were served by the ladies.

HOW A PROHIBITIONIST VOTED.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir,—I do not know how many stayed at home and refrained to vote as advanced prohibitionists, led by the nose by W. W. Buchanan. I, as a Royal T. of T. and a prohibitionist, did not stay at home, but as such voted, and my vote made one for Mr. Middleton. R. Oaten, 668 King street east. Hamilton, June 29th.

These trains will run on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays until further notice. These trains will also run on Monday, July 2nd.

A SPECIAL SUMMER ROOM.

As Cool and Inviting as the Canopied Deck of a Yacht.

A Resort in One's Own House—How to Decorate and Furnish an Airy Apartment for the Stay-at-Home Members of the Family.

One of the great benefits of going away in summer, writes Ella Rodman Church in Harper's Bazar, is the entire change of scene and surroundings, and the benefit remains even when the change is not decidedly for the better. But as all cannot leave their homes every season, and the reasons which conspire to make going away inexpedient often have nothing to do with lack of means, the next best thing is to get the needed change by transforming the outward aspect of familiar places.

The moving furniture into different niches and corners, with the substitution of matting for carpet, and thin curtains in place of heavier drapery, makes a very decided change in the appearance of any room; but when an entire change of room can be afforded, with a different outlook, a substitution of doors for windows and windows for doors, walls of another tint and belongings that seem new because of several months' forgetfulness, the delightfulness of a summer parlor is fully appreciated by those for whom it makes their only outing.

THE GENERAL EFFECT.

With a double house and a small family, which not infrequently go together, the summer room is easily achieved; and in many other cases, a little management would render it a possibility. The general effect of such a room should be cool but not chilling—it should offer comfort in depressing rainstorms as well as in fervent heat, and to do this effectually an open fireplace is one of the first requirements. Having "glorified the room" with this unfailing promoter of cheerfulness, we can now proceed to the scheme of white and gold, with variations which seems in its natural element in the adorning of a summer room. In a grand apartment that is used chiefly in cold weather, white and gold has a very chilling effect, yet as a general thing this treatment is seldom found elsewhere. As white and other light tones increase the apparent size of a room, they are better adapted to less space; but even here the white should take an ivory tint.

All sorts of pretty delicate colors are in harmony with this warm tone of white. Old rose, like a sunset cloud; a suggestion of pistache, that loveliest of greens; or a robin's egg blue on the walls, with doors and other woodwork in ivory white, touched up with dead gold—are equally charming. If the ceilings are high enough, a width of brocade will make a dainty frieze.

CURTAINS AND RUGS.

Should the walls be the palest green, the window curtains and long mantel scarf would be very satisfactory in linen scrim painted with pink roses and buds, and the scarf lined with pale pink silk. A square or oblong rug, according to the shape of the room, of plain green velvet carpet, in deeper tone than the walls, could have a narrow border to correspond with the general shower of roses, while the divan, sofa, and two or three easy chairs are covered in soft tints of pink brocade. Charming corner chairs of dull gold, with cushions of old-rose plush, would accentuate the prevailing color.

A few light chairs in ivory and gold and two or three pretty little tables and cabinets of the same, complete the furniture proper. The cabinets have exquisitely embroidered curtains in iridescent beads, which look like masses of jewels on the pink satin; while an oblong mirror over the mantel, with a narrow frame of ivory-white and gold, reflect vases of Benares brass, and handsome candelabra in Dresden china with candles of delicate pink. Tall jars of pale rose, with dull gold decoration, stand on either side of the fireplace—itself lovely with pink and ivory tiles and exquisite brasses, while an Angora rug in front of the fender shows glimpses of a pink lining.

Cushions of various dainty colors, with gold disc decorations, look artistic and comfortable in one corner; while portieres in the two doorways of these same silks in diagonal stripes have a charmingly Oriental effect. A bit of Royal Worcester here and there, a bowl or two of the highly decorative Benares brassware, fans painted or embroidered on a pink silk ground, a few water colors and etchings framed in ivory and gold, and the summer room is beautiful indeed, without the least extravagance in outlay.

PREPARING FOR BOARDERS.

Come, Mandy, get the fly screens out. I know they ain't no good—
A healthy fly will sure get in if oncet he's said he would.
But we can't take no chances, an' the city boarder's queer:
He allus wants his fly screens up when he's a-stayin' here.

I think we'd also better get a spinnin' wheel or two,
An' set 'em in the settin' room, because, 'tween me an' you,
We may get some one here who for antique things has a whim,
An' who will pay us twice its cost to take it home with him.

An', by the way, ye'd better buy, say twenty dozen eggs,
They does 'em up in lime these days, an' sells 'em out in kegs,
Then every mornin' I'll go out and sort of strew 'em round
The coops and haylofts, where they're sure by boarders to be found.

For I've noticed that the folks who come up here to stay
Think eggs is fresher laid if they have found 'em—an', I say,
Pack up the table cloths, because these town folks thinks that we Eat off a plain pine table without any cloth. Law me!

It makes me laugh, to think of 'em. They call us "new" an' "green,"
But they're the very verdantest that ever I have seen,
An' every year when they come here—I know it is a sin—
But, Lord! how we poor country folks do take those fellers in!
